

... Scene from the base of the Monument, taken by John R. Smith 1915, and he wants you to "Note war craft in harbor." Long Point on the right.

The Steamer Cape Cod at Town Wharf. She was built for the Provincetown line and ran here for many years. She was originally intended for a three-masted schooner, but when her Company received an order for a passenger vessel, they turned her into a steamship! She rolled and pitched badly, and also was too slow, and finally was sold, the steamer Dorothy Bradford taking her place.

(... per Edwin Lewis )