

Ballston Beach, Truro, Mass. 653
Aunt Nell

- 1910 -

Note house with cupolas, far right. This same house is on the left in the picture below.

Ballston Beach by Moonlight. Taken by John R. Smith
 About 1908

ARROW - L.S.S. ↓

. Pamet River Life-Saving Station
 - About 1890 -
 Captain John H. Rich - Right

This station is one of the original nine stations erected on Cape Cod in 1872. It is located three and one-half miles south of Cape Cod Highland Light, on the ocean shore in Truro village about three miles from the Truro railroad station.

Sand bars with but a small depth of water over them fringe the shore at this station, extending seaward for several hundred yards, and the history of the station records many fearful disasters on them.

It was on these dreaded bars that the terrible ocean tragedy, the wreck of the ship Jason occurred, and also where the three crafts, the Powwow, Miles Standish, and the E. Pavey, were wrecked at one time.

... from "The Life Savers of Cape Cod"
 by J. W. Dalton - 1902