

Trap Shed Feast

The savory cataplana was a highlight of the Trap Shed Dinner, which celebrated the late artist and chef Howard Mitcham and was a benefit for the Provincetown Portuguese Festival. Serendipitously, the event occurred on his birthday. The featured celebrity, Mitcham's daughter Sabine, arrived from New Orleans for the event, with Howard's ashes and "pet" clam in hand.

PHOTOS DON MURPHY

The Chandler Travis Philharmonic entertained the crowd of some 50 people.

David Mayo appears captivated by Howard Mitcham's daughter, Sabine.

Maureen Hurst, Karen Silva and Deb Trovato chat up a storm. (Or maybe Deb's calling someone safe at home...)

Sabine cradles her father's pet clam "Herman," while pal Jan Kelly holds his ashes.

Maureen Hurst and Paul Silva show off some fancy footwork.
