

Here is where back street used to begin - 1905
The street from back to front is Allerton
Street, coming out on Commercial St opposite where Dr. Eaton lived.

From The Provincetown Advocate - July 24, 1872:

NEW STREET

Parallel Street (Bradford Street) at its eastern extremity is being worked quite fast and enough is finished to show what it is to be when fully completed the entire length of the town. It can be reached by leaving Commercial Street at the eastern schoolhouse. This part will undoubtedly be the prettiest.

From Polestaff Hill

Here is practically the same view twenty-four years later. Allerton Street on the right. At the end of the "S" curve, is the intersection where Commercial and Bradford Streets begin. Also, at this point we began our tour of Provincetown's residential and business sections. And now, if you must leave us-- But wait...
