509 Commercial St. is a 2-story, 3-bay commercial building; gable-front roof is sheathed in asphalt shingles; partial cornice returns; exterior is clad in wood shingles with wood corner boards and trim; building sits on a concrete block foundation; fenestration includes 6-pane and single-pane wood awning windows, one 12-pane bay window on primary façade, 6/6 wood DHS; primary entrance is accessed by a wood pane-and-panel door and is reached by concrete and brick steps; 2nd-story porch with access on south side.

HISTORICAL NARRATIVE

see continuation sheet

Discuss the history of the building. Explain its associations with local (or state) history. Include uses of the building, and the role(s) the owners/occupants played within the community.

As per Tom Boland (1994): Shown on the 1858 map, #509 Commercial Street is noted as a store (probably a fish store house). In 1880, the property was owned by T. Daggett and stayed in the Daggett family until at least 1907 when it was still listed as a fish storehouse for Alton L. Daggett, fisherman. Today, it is a framing shop. Currently "Pequod" (2003).
